The S2 Anti-Terrorism Courses as a Worldwide Standard

Since 2003, S2 Institute anti-terrorism courses have earned accolades worldwide for their depth of information, comprehensiveness, and universal application to diverse facilities. Over the past fourteen years, the S2's anti-terrorism and advanced security training programs have evolved into an international standard for training and certifying security professionals in measures for protecting facilities against terrorist attack. As of 2019, over 5,000 security and public safety professionals worldwide have graduated the S2 Institute anti-terrorism courses.

Following are some highlights of the S2 Institute's history and recognitions:

- In 2018, the S2 Institute presented the S2 Anti-Terrorism Officer program in conjunction with Security and Intelligence Network Africa (SINA) as the first advanced-level public anti-terrorism course presented in West Africa. The program was attended by officials representing a diverse range of Ghanaian government ministries, NGOs, and corporations.

Anti-Terrorism Officer Course, Accra 2018

- In 2017, the International Association of Counterterrorism and Security Professionals (IACSP) launched the "Certified Anti-Terrorism Officer" (cATO) examination and professional certification based on the S2 Institute Anti-Terrorism Officer program. The S2 Institute is the exclusive provider of IACSP-accredited cATO training worldwide.
- In 2017, the European Commission contracted the S2 Institute to conduct a special version of the S2 Anti-Terrorism Officer course to serve as a standardized training program for EC security personnel. Additional organizations were represented during the program including the EEAS, NATO, and the European Council.
- In 2017, the S2 Anti-Terrorism Officer (ATO) Course was awarded a national stock number by the Government of the Netherlands. The S2 ATO course is the only program of its type officially endorsed by the Dutch government.
- In 2016, the European Commission contracted the S2 Institute to aid in improving their security risk assessment program and training EC security personnel in methods for assessing terrorism related risk. Additional organizations were represented during the program including the EEAS and the European Parliament.

- In 2016, the S2 Institute was contracted by an international hotel chain to prepare and present a special course on Anti-Terrorism and Hotel Security for security managers and risk management personnel. The program was developed as a customized version of the S2 Anti-Terrorism Officer course focusing specifically on terrorism-related threats and security measures as applicable to hospitality facilities. The course was conducted as part of a multi-day summit and workshop for the hotel chain's global team of security managers in Prague.

Anti-Terrorism and Hotel Security Course, Prague 2016

- In 2014, the S2 Anti-Terrorism Officer course was adopted as the basis for developing a standardized curriculum for training and certifying European External Action Service (EEAS) Regional Security Officers. The EEAS RSO Anti-Terrorism and Diplomatic Security Course was designed to specifically focus on measures relevant to the protection of EU diplomatic facilities and personnel. During 2014 and 2015, a series of programs were presented at the EEAS headquarters in Brussels to multi-national groups of RSOs assigned to EEAS delegations worldwide.
